VISUAL ARTS

Bula from the art room!

It's been an exciting term for Year One who have been inquiring into sustainable practices, and exploring concepts through Visual Arts. As illustrators, students demonstrated what happens when people agree to share finite resources. As designers, they learned how to reduce images down to simple forms (see lower left). They reused old textbooks by crafting them into something useful and beautiful, and recycled bottles to make toys and sculptures (upper right).

Finally, students took action to promote sustainability. One way they did so is by creating 'water tanks' to showcase how our environment can be protected and maintained (lower right).

A plethora of beautiful art from this semester, such as the painting at upper left (by Andie in Y2) can be viewed at www.artsonia.com/schools/school.asp?id=151814

Have a very happy holiday! See you next term. - Mrs Stice
